REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

LIVELY TIMES IN SEVERAL DISTRICTS-RE-PEATING AND PERSONATION RIFE-"THE MACHINE" GENERALLY TRIUMPHANT.

The republican primaries for the election of dele ites to the Central Committee and for choosing flicers of the different district associations were held last night. In only comparatively few of the districts were there contests, the opposition to what is termed the "machine" confining itself within friends of the reigning republican leaders probably had the effect of disheartening the opposition in some districts where it was confidently predicted "independent republicanism" was to prevail. In some of the districts, how-over, there were flerce contests for leadership between rival magnates, and the tactics employed by some leaders to carry the primaries seemed to fully justify the charges recently made by Colonel George Bliss in his communications to General ur on the subject of reforming abuses in the eight to see men come up and attempt to vote on the ame of a most respected gentieman who had long tempted on a most extraordinarily large scale. In short, to judge from the actions of those that are known as the "machine men" in some of the dis-tricts last night, it might readily be seen that none of Colonel Bliss' suggestions were followed.

WHERE THERE WERE CONTESTS. In the Third, Fifteenth and Seventeenth districts there was a particularly noticeable intention to carry the election in any way possible. In these three districts there were contests. In the Third district the interest centred in the fight between "Tom" Geary, Thomas H. Riley and other Arthur men and an element of the party headed by Mr. Charles N. Taintor. The last named gentleman represents the upper portion of the district, which, under the new apportionment adopted by the Board of Aldermen, takes in a very extended area, stretching as far north as Twenty-third street. Geary and Riley are from the lower section of the district, or at least obtain their influence from that neighborhood. The opposition have for some time past been making a strong effort to capture the district, but their battle was an uphill one, as all the party machinery was in the hands of the enemy. At the election last night the Geary faction had it practically all their own way. Mr. Riley acted as chairman of the Board of Inspector, and challenged voters indiscriminately. Several times a fight was imminent, but Captain Bypries, with a squad or about fifty men, served to prevent any open breach of the peace during the progress of the primary. One man came up to vote shortly after nine e'clock and gave his name, at the same time laying his ballot on the desk. Mr. Riley was on the point of depositing the vote, but after a moment's hesitation and a scrutiny of the folded ballot he refused the vote of the gentleman, claiming the man was not the person he represented to be. In vain did the atherent of Mr. Taintor protest, and the protestations of the citizen were not considered at all. At last the challenged voter turned to a friend and said, "You know me, Tom; why don't you identify me?" No response was made, and a second request for recognition was made. "Tom" smilled at the voter, and with a merry twinkle said, anid much laughter, "I don't know you now." Many similar instances could be recited. Near the close of the election Mr. Riley said he would shout at the top of his voice for the po the election in any way possible. In these ticket was successful. A contest before the Central Committee will probably be make. FIFTERNTH ASSEMBLY DISTRICT.

In the Fifteenth Assembly district there was a very lively contest. One ticket was headed by Sheridan Shook, the other byHenry G. Leask. Of the 283 votes cast. Shook received 183 and Leask 25. The balloting took place at No. 352 West Thirty-fifth street, and the feeling between the adherents of the rival tickets ran so high that Captain Washburn, of the Twentieth precinct, detailed a squad of thirty-five men under the charge of Sergeant Woods to preserve order in the hall. The inspectors were Jacob Fowles and John G. Collins, both in the Shook interest. Several passages at arms occurred during the balloting between the challengers on the respective sides and the inspectors, but owing to the precautions taken by the police no disturbance took place. At twenty minutes to ten o'clock Mr. Shook stepped outside the railing and offered his vote. "I challenge this vote," shouted Mr. Eugene D. Wheelock. "On what ground?" calmiy asked Mr. Shook. "Because," was the reply, "I want you to understand you can't showe in fifty ballots as you did for President." The vote was nevertheless accepted. Then Mr. Leask, his opponent, was called on to step forward and vote. He was carelessly leaning against the railing and declined the invitation with the remark. "I am was the reply, "I want you to understand you can't shove in fifty ballots as you did for President." The vote was nevertheless accepted. Then Mr. Leask, his opponent, was called on to step forward and vote. He was carelessly leaning ragainst the railing and declined the invitation with the remark, "I am not the man to vote for myself," which was greeted with shouts of "Bully boy" from the crowd outside the police line. "Now, you just stop that," interposed Mr. Powles, the inspector. "I want you to understand we ain't doing any funny business, here to-night." One man came forward at that point and offered his vote, which was challenged by Mr. Wheelock. He was asked the ground for the challenge, but no answer came. The opposing challenger looked the man straight in the face for a few seconds and said not a word. Then Inspector Powles, finding that neither side would press an objection, turned to Wheelock and said, "Now you're in a hole, and don't know what to do," The man was allowed to walk away without voting. The difficulty with the challengers was that the Shock ticket was green and the Leask ticket white. But each side had adopted the colors of the other as a piece of strategy in case of a close vote, so that the challengers became bewildered. Philip Hines, said to be a stanch adherent of Mike Norton, came forward and was promptly challenged. "Who tells me I'm a liar?" cried Hines, looking angrily at Mr. Leask. "Don't you dare to strike me." was the latter's reply. The democratic Eighth warder's vote was accepted, as one of the police officers remarked, "for peace sake." Whon the polls were declared closed, Mr. Leask came forward and entered a protest against the counting of the ballots on the ground that several votes had been received after being challenged and before the challenges were decided, and in the second place, because the Board was not properly organized. Mr. Wheelock also protested on the ground that the pumbered 284, whereas only 291 were checked on the poli list. The ballots were then returne

iam L. Lowden.

The Seventeenth district primary was held at Turner Hall, No. 341 West Forty-seventh street. A count of the vote showed that Colonel Mason had carried the district. Out of six hundred and theirty votes Colonel Mason's majority was a hundred and ten. This practically gives another district to the republican "machine." Although numerous tricks were attempted to change the result, the management of the election was such that no protests were made.

were made.

OTHER DISTRICTS.

The primaries held in the other districts of the city were without any special feature to merit menion, except in the case of the Fifth district, where two different elections were held. John H. Brady ran one primary, while the opposition was represented by what is known as the Winterbottom faction. The credentials of both sets of delegates elected will have to be presented to the central organization, which will have the power to decide upon the regularity of one or the other parties. On all the tickets in the districts are to be seen, for the most part, names that have for years been familiar to those who have taken an interest in republican politics. On the whole it may be said the result of the elections is a signal triumph for the "machine" element of the party. The supremacy of General Arthur and his advisers and confidants is assured, and it is considered very likely that the General will be selected to preside over the sessions of the new Central Committee when it organizes. The present leaders in the different districts for the most part retain their ascendancy in the party organizations, and but lew if any changes have been made in the list of officers in each Assembly district. Among the more prominent members of the new Central Committee will be District Attorney Benjamin K. Phelps, Colonel Ethau Allen, General Chester A. Arthur, ex-Third Avenue Bank Director William A. Darling, Stephen B. French, George B. Van Brunt, Assistant District Attorney Daniel G. Rellins, John D. Lawson, ex-Senator Abrahum Lent, John J. O'Brien, Charles Blackie, Colonel Charles S. Spencer, Sheridan Shook, General Anson G. McCook, Isaac Dayton and Robert H. Strahan.

NEWPORT NOTE

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD.]

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 9, 1879. Mr. Archibald H. Lowery, of Washington, has just sold his lot of land on Believue avenue to Mrs. Harriet N. Pond, of New York, for $29,000. Mrs. Pond is to build a handsome villa upon the site at MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

BOSTON WELCOMES WOMEN AT THE POLLS AND ELECTS PRINCE, DEMOCRAT, FOR MAYOR. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD.]

Boston, Mass., Dec. 9, 1879. The municipal election in Boston to-day develthe history of the city when women exercised the ited to the School Committee, and they used that pretty freely. In several of the voting precincts ladies their favorite candidate. The utmost politeness and gallantry were manifested on the part of the reprentatives of the sterner sex, and the ward rooms where female voters appeared were models of order materially change the result, for it was divided between the opposing parties in such a manner that no appreciable preponderance was noticed. The Butler vote surprised everybody. Out of a total vote of about thirty-five thousand only about seven hundred were cast for the two representatives of that element. Mr. McDavitt, Butier's lieutenant, claimed to be the exponent of Butlerism, pure and simple. He objected to Mayor Prince on the ground that he was not a democrat, and he had himself nominated for Mayor as the repassentative of the real democracy of the city. His total vote was 363. His purpose was to defeat Prince, who is socretary of the Democratic National Committee and a member of what is called the regular organization. McDavitt was in league more or less with the republic andiate for that purpose, and hoped to draw off enough votes to throw the election into the hands of the republicans, and to show that he held the balance of power in city politics. But he is the worst beaten man in Massachusetts, and his action has seriously damaged the prospects of General Butler should be ever think of running for Governor again. All the opponents of Butleriam were anxious that McDavitt should be effectually buried, and that result seems to have been attained.

AN INSIDE ISSUE. thousand only about seven hundred were cast opponents of Butleriam were anklous that result seems to have been attained.

AN INSIDE ISSUE.

There was another issue in the fight which was steadily kepf in view. If Mr. Prince were beaten it was hoped by the Butler men that the chances of the admission of the Fancull Hall delegation to the National Convention would be lessened. This has also miscarried, and Prince's plurality is increased about a thousand, which shows, if it shows anything, that Boston is democratic and on the side of Fancull Hall. This may be regarded as a victory for the Tilden men in Massachusetts, for that wing of the party lean to the statesman of Gramercy Park. General Butler says he has no connection with the McDavitt movement, but some of his strongest friends here assert that this is only a trick to shift the responsibility and make a catapaw of his lieutenant. seeing that the result is so disastrous. The Globe, which has been General Butler's organ, however, and which was suspected of having inspiration, supported Prince heartily, and savagely attacked McDavitt, charging him openly with trading with the republicans. The democrats, besides electing the Mayor, have secured a majority of the Board of Aldermen, but have lost the Common Council. At midnight the returns indicate the election of a majority also of the democratic candidates for the School Board. The election was quiet and a comparatively small vote was polled.

Worcester, Dec. 9, 1879.

In Worcester, Frank H. Kelley, at present a republican Alderman, was elected Mayor by a vote of 2,965 to 2,714 for Elijah B. Stoddard, also a republican; 1,090 for Horace H. Bigelow (democrat) and 99 for A. G. Marble (workingman). The republicans elected all their Aldermen and eight of twelve Countilians.

cilmen.

In Salem Henry R. Oliver (republican) was reelected Mayor, and G. A. Sanderson (greenback) is elected in Lynn.

In Newburyport Mayor Currier, democrat, was reelected, having no competitor. The Board of Aldermen and Common Council are democratic, though the party lines were drawn very loosely in the contest.

OTHER MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

In the municipal election to-day Horatio Kimball (dem.) was elected Mayor by fifty majority.

The municipal election here to-day was quiet and orderly. The contest for Mayor was a triangular one, between Mr. Courtenay, the reg-ular democratic candidate; Mr. Sale, who also claimed to be the regular democratic candiclaimed to be the regular democratic candi-date, and Mr. Gayer, independent democrat. The last named was generally supported by the republi-can leaders. The negro vote was divided between the three candidates, Courtenay receiving a large portion of it, in-luding the longshoremen, who supported him in a body. The returns to-night in-dicate that Courtenay is certainly elected, and his friends claim for him 1,000 majority over the com-bined vote for Gayer and Sale. The new city admin-istration is elected for a term of four years.

READJUSTERS ELECTED.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 9, 1879. The General Assembly to-day, at haif-past twelve election of the various State officers. Of the heads of departments three were elected to-day, to wit:-T. T. Fauntleroy, of Frederick county, for Secretary Donaid, present incument; John E. Massey, of Albemarle, Auditor of Public Accounts, to succeed William F. Taylor, and H. H. Dyson, for second Auditor, in place of General Asa Rogers.

The remainder of to-day's session was wasted in a discussion of the resolution introduced by a negro Senator to limit nominating speeches to five minutes. The resolution was adopted, but was subsequently reconsidered and then withdrawn. Further execution of the joint order was then postponed until tomerrow.

The three officers elected were candidates of the readjusters, one (Mr. Dyson), second auditor, being a republican. The majorities on joint ballot ranged from 23 to 26.

OBITUARY.

MISS MARY STANLEY, ENGLISH PHILANTHROPIST Miss Mary Stanley, eldest sister of Dr. Arthur Penrhyn Stanley, Dean of Westminster, died at her London residence, No. 6 Grosvenor Crescent, November 26, in her sixty-sixth year, from a sudden and severe inflammation of the lungs. She was a daughter of Dr. Edward Stanley, Bishop of Norwich, whose biography, by the Dean of Westminster, has just been published. She was born at Alder-ley, Cheshire, in 1814, and like all the mem-bers of the remarkable family to which she belonged, early manifested a decided vocation for works of charity. Up to her father's death, in 1849, she was his chief co-worker at Norwich in his numerous philanthropic enterprises. After that event she devoted herself to her mother and brother with rare unselfshness. When the sufferings of the British soldiery in the Crimean war became known she was, next to Florence Nightingsle, the most notable organizer of female sanitary assistance. With the sanition of Sidney Herbert, Secretary for War, she took charge of the second detachment, of fifty nurses, with whom she proceeded to Constantinopic, labored in the naval hospital at Therapia, and, with the help of Lord and Lady Stratford de Redelyffe, was instrumental in establishing the military hospital at Koulalee. After her settlement in London Miss Stanley occupied herself in organizing numerous charitable institutions, especially in Westminster, and was the originator of what are known as "Flower Missions." In 1856 she joined the Church of Rome, but that fact did not interfere with her cordial co-operation with her brother and other fellow workers of the Anglican Church. She was the author of a few tracts upon subjects germane to her life work. By her own desire she was buried in her mother's grave, in Alderley church-yard, Cheshire.

BREVET MAJOR FREDRIK ROSENCRANTZ, U. S. A. Fredrik Rosencrantz, first lieutenant of the Sixteenth infantry and brevet major, United States Army, died at Fort Riley, Kan., on Sunday evening, and was buried there yesterday with military honors. He received his military training in Sweden, his native country, and served in the Hussars and the Royal Swedish Horse Guards from 1848 to 1861, holding the rank of captain from 1850 until 1861. He came to the United States about the until 1861. He came to the United States about the time of the beginning of the rebellion, and attached himself in September, 1862, as a volunteer ade-decamp to the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac. In October he was made a first lieutenant of the Twentieth New York Vounteers, and was successively adde-de-camp on the staffs of Major Generals McClellan, Hooker, Burnside and Meade while they were in command of the Army of the Potomac. In 1863 he was an officer of the 137th New York Volunteers, and in 1864 was promoted to be captain and assistant adjutant general and breveted a major tor faithful and meritorious services in the field. He received the brevet appointment of lieutenant colonel of United States volunteers for galiantry in the siege of Richmond under General Grant, and was assistant inspector general to General Hunt from June to October, 1865. After the reorganization of the regular army he passed from the Thrity-fourth to the Sixteenth intantry, but his promotion, like that of most officers of the line, was from lack of casualties exceedingly slow. His death is much regretted.

James Cumings, proprietor of the Columbian Foundry and president of the Morris & Cumings Dredging Company, died of apoplexy on Sunday morning at his home on East Thirty-fifth street, at the advanced age of seventy-seven years. Mr. Cumings was well known to all old New Yorkers, and his active life is contemporaneous with the rapid development of the city. He was born in this city in the year 1803. Early in life he was apprenticed to Mr. Robert McQueen, the proprietor of the iron foundry on Duane street, then, as now, known as the Columbian Foundry. Soon after arriving at his majority he, in company with Peter Morris, started the Bolivar Foundry on Anthony, now Worth, street, under the firm name of Morris & Cumings. About 1832 Mr. McQueen relinquished the Columbian Foundry and was succeeded by Morris & Cumings was dissolvd, Mr. Cumings remaining in and continuing the business until his death. In 1842 Mr. Cumings united with him the late Ephraim Morris, an inventor of considerable distinction in making submarine excavations. The business rapidly grew into large proportions, and in 1873 led to the organization of a stock company, nown as the Morris & Cumings Predging Company, of which Mr. Cumings was president and treasurer until his death. rapid development of the city.
